

There's strong.
And then there's Surefire strong.

[SUBHEAD:]

High-quality manufacturing. Rock-solid components. Field-proven engineering.

It's all part of Surefire's commitment to strength. And it's what we're bringing together in our newest hydraulic fracturing unit for big-time performance.

INTRODUCING THE HERCULES

When completions call for reliability that doesn't quit, the Hercules goes long. Really long. Engineered with the industry's toughest components, the Hercules was built to run continuously for 10,000+ hours. That means smoother operations, less downtime and greater ROI even in the most challenging environments. Because in today's completions, you need more than strength to stand above the rest. You need the strength of Surefire.
